Victory for IPID Personal Assistants: Movement from salary level 6 to salary level 7

Members will recall that the PSA, acting on behalf of Personal Assistants at the IPID, was embroiled in a bitter dispute to move these members from salary level 6 to salary level 7 as pr the DPSA directive.

The PSA is pleased to announce that the matter has now been finalised in that a settlement agreement has been signed with the IPID. In terms of the agreement, Personal Assistants employed by the IPID will move from salary level 6 to salary level 7, with back-payment for a period of two years.

This agreement brings an end to the long-standing dispute between parties and is a significant victory for the affected Personal Assistants. The PSA would like to thank Personal Assistants for their patience and support whilst the matter was being pursued. The PSA also extends appreciation to the acting Executive Director of IPID for his decisiveness in bringing this matter to a resolution. The PSA awaits the full implementation of the settlement agreement. The PSA will continue to engage the employer to ensure that the agreement is implemented timeously

Members will be kept informed of developments.
