institutions of democracy must be continuously reinforced through decisive leadership, integrity, and fairness.

As a Union representing employees at the Office of the Public Protector, the PSA trusts that Adv Dube will take the interests and well-being of employees at heart. The PSA is hopeful that her leadership will promote a work environment that upholds labour rights, values consultation, and ensures fairness, dignity, and respect for all employees.

The PSA looks forward to constructive engagement with the Deputy Public Protector and reaffirms the Union's commitment to working collaboratively with management to advance sound labour relations, institutional stability, and service excellence.
