The Public Servants Association (PSA) has welcomed the long-awaited opening of the new High Court in the Mpumalanga.

The Union indicated that the opening of this Court will allow for citizens to receive justice more speedily in the region and should assist with the backlog in court cases in Mpumalanga. The PSA has also welcomed the appointment of the current acting Judges, Hendric Roelofse, Brian Mashile, and Ntombizanele Ndlokovane, with the belief that they will be driven by dignity and compassion for justice and will uphold the law, without fear or favour.

The PSA at the same time appealed to the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development for a division of the Labour Court to also be opened in the Mpumalanga to bring relief to the overburdened the Johannesburg Labour Court roll.
