Suspension of the picketing

Members were previously informed that picketing will commence from 22 March 2022. The employer appointed legal representation to file an urgent application to interdict the commencement of the pickets arguing that the PSA should have issued a new notice before commencing.

The PSA appointed lawyers to oppose the employer's application and the matter has been set to be argued at the Labour Court on 24 March 2022. However, the Court granted a temporary order to interdict the picketing until the matter is fully argued in Court.

Members are advised to not to proceed with the picketing until all legal matters at the Labour Court are concluded. The PSA will provide feedback on the Court hearing on 24 March 2022.

The PSA is confident that it will successfully oppose the application and defend the Unions members' right to strike.

Further developments will be communicated.
