Update: SARS Durban Provincial Office strike plan

Members are aware of the ongoing battle with the employer to ensure that members receive a reasonable and acceptable wage increase. Previously, the employer made an offer that included a 1.39%-salary increase, which was rejected by members through the national mandating process. As indicated to members, strike action will continue on 18 July 2022 until the employer is able to come up with an acceptable offer to meet employees' demands.

Members in the Durban area are invited to join the strike at SARS Offices 201 Dr Pixley ka Seme Street on 18 July 2022 commencing from 06:00 in front of the SARS building until further notice. During the strike, members are urged not to work, even they can work remotely, as this may cause the employer to continue being arrogant towards employees as it would not feel the industrial-action pressure. Members are further requested to wear their PSA gear during the industrial action. Lets unite towards getting better offer.
