FOR PSA MEMBERS: GAUTENG DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH - JOHANNESBURG AREA

19-11-2026

Victory for PSA member

A PSA member at the Gauteng Department of Health, employed as Labour Relations Official, was charged with eleven allegations of misconduct. This follows orchestration of charges by shop stewards of other trade unions. The PSA intervened as shop stewards of other unions wanted this official to get dismissed. However, these shop stewards were proven to be lacking capacity, as their lies were exposed at the disciplinary hearing. This led to further investigations, which led to them being charged and given serious sanctions ranging from one month to three months' suspension without pay. Out of eleven allegations, the member was found guilty of two charges and sanctioned with a final written warning. The member was satisfied with the outcome.

Employees are urged to join the PSA to protect their rights in the workplace, regardless of the position they occupy in their departments.
