Victory for PSA member

Doctor's job secured

A PSA member, a Doctor employed by KZN Department of Health, was charged with seven serious allegations of misconduct relating to disruption of services, financial dealings, failure to maintain professional conduct, bringing the image of the employer into disrepute, and abusive behaviour towards another employee.

The PSA official, Mr Mbusi Shibe, represented the member and defended him. The member was found not guilty of six charges and only found guilty on one charge relating to disruption of services. He was sanctioned with a written warning. The member was happy with the outcome and not willing to appeal the decision. The PSA has once again proved the Union to be well capacitated to protect the rights of members.

Employees are urged to join the PSA to protect their rights in the workplace regardless of the position they are occupying in their departments.
